WELCOME

Discover the perfect sanctuary in the heart of London, where classic charm meets contemporary luxury.

Established in 1789, Durrant's is the perfect setting for your central London wedding reception or celebration. Owned and managed by the Miller family since 1921, the hotel is filled with tradition and family values.

The hotel is deeply rooted in its heritage and location. It has an unmistakably British feel. A hint of eccentricity mixes antiques with modern art to create a warm, distinctive style. Thoughtful service, supreme comfort and a unique sense of design create an ambience you won't find anywhere else.

It's all, well... unmistakably Durrant's.

STAY WITH US

We offer special rates to you and all guests attending your event at Durrant's.

Our 92 individually designed rooms offer a distinctive mix of timeless elegance and modern style, inviting guests to experience the perfect balance of tradition and contemporary luxury.

Durrant's individually designed suites are perfect for special occasions. The Centennial Suite offers elegant décor and generous space to unwind, making it an ideal choice for wedding preparations or a romantic honeymoon stay. Our suites and rooms offer our unique blend of style comfort and luxury for all in your party.

True to our Georgian heritage, Durrant's interiors blend the charm of an English country house with the refined ambiance of a London town house. With attention to both comfort and style, every room is uniquely tailored to offer a memorable stay.

WEDDING RECEPTIONS

Whether you're planning a small intimate wedding breakfast, or a lively reception with cocktails and canapés, Durrant's Hotel is the perfect backdrop for your special day. Our team is steeped in hospitality and you are assured the kind of service only a hotel can provide.

Durrant's is located close to Old Marylebone Town Hall registry office - the site of many famous weddings. If you're looking for something more low key or traditional, both the Catholic Church of Saint James and St Marylebone Parish Church are a short walk away.

Overseen by Executive Head Chef Rumel Pinnock, our kitchens can deliver exceptional food for you and your guests on the day. From refined canapés to formal banquets, each dish is served with the attentive, discreet service that has defined Durrant's for more than two centuries.

SPACES

For weddings, our five distinctive event rooms offer an inviting and memorable setting, accommodating up to 50 guests for a seated dinner or up to 80 guests for a standing reception. Each room has its own character and story, allowing you to shape a day that feels intimate, stylish, and entirely personal.

As well as a characterful room for your gathering, we can guarantee the kind of hospitality that has seen Durrant's remain at the top of many people's list of destinations in Marylebone for two and a half centuries.

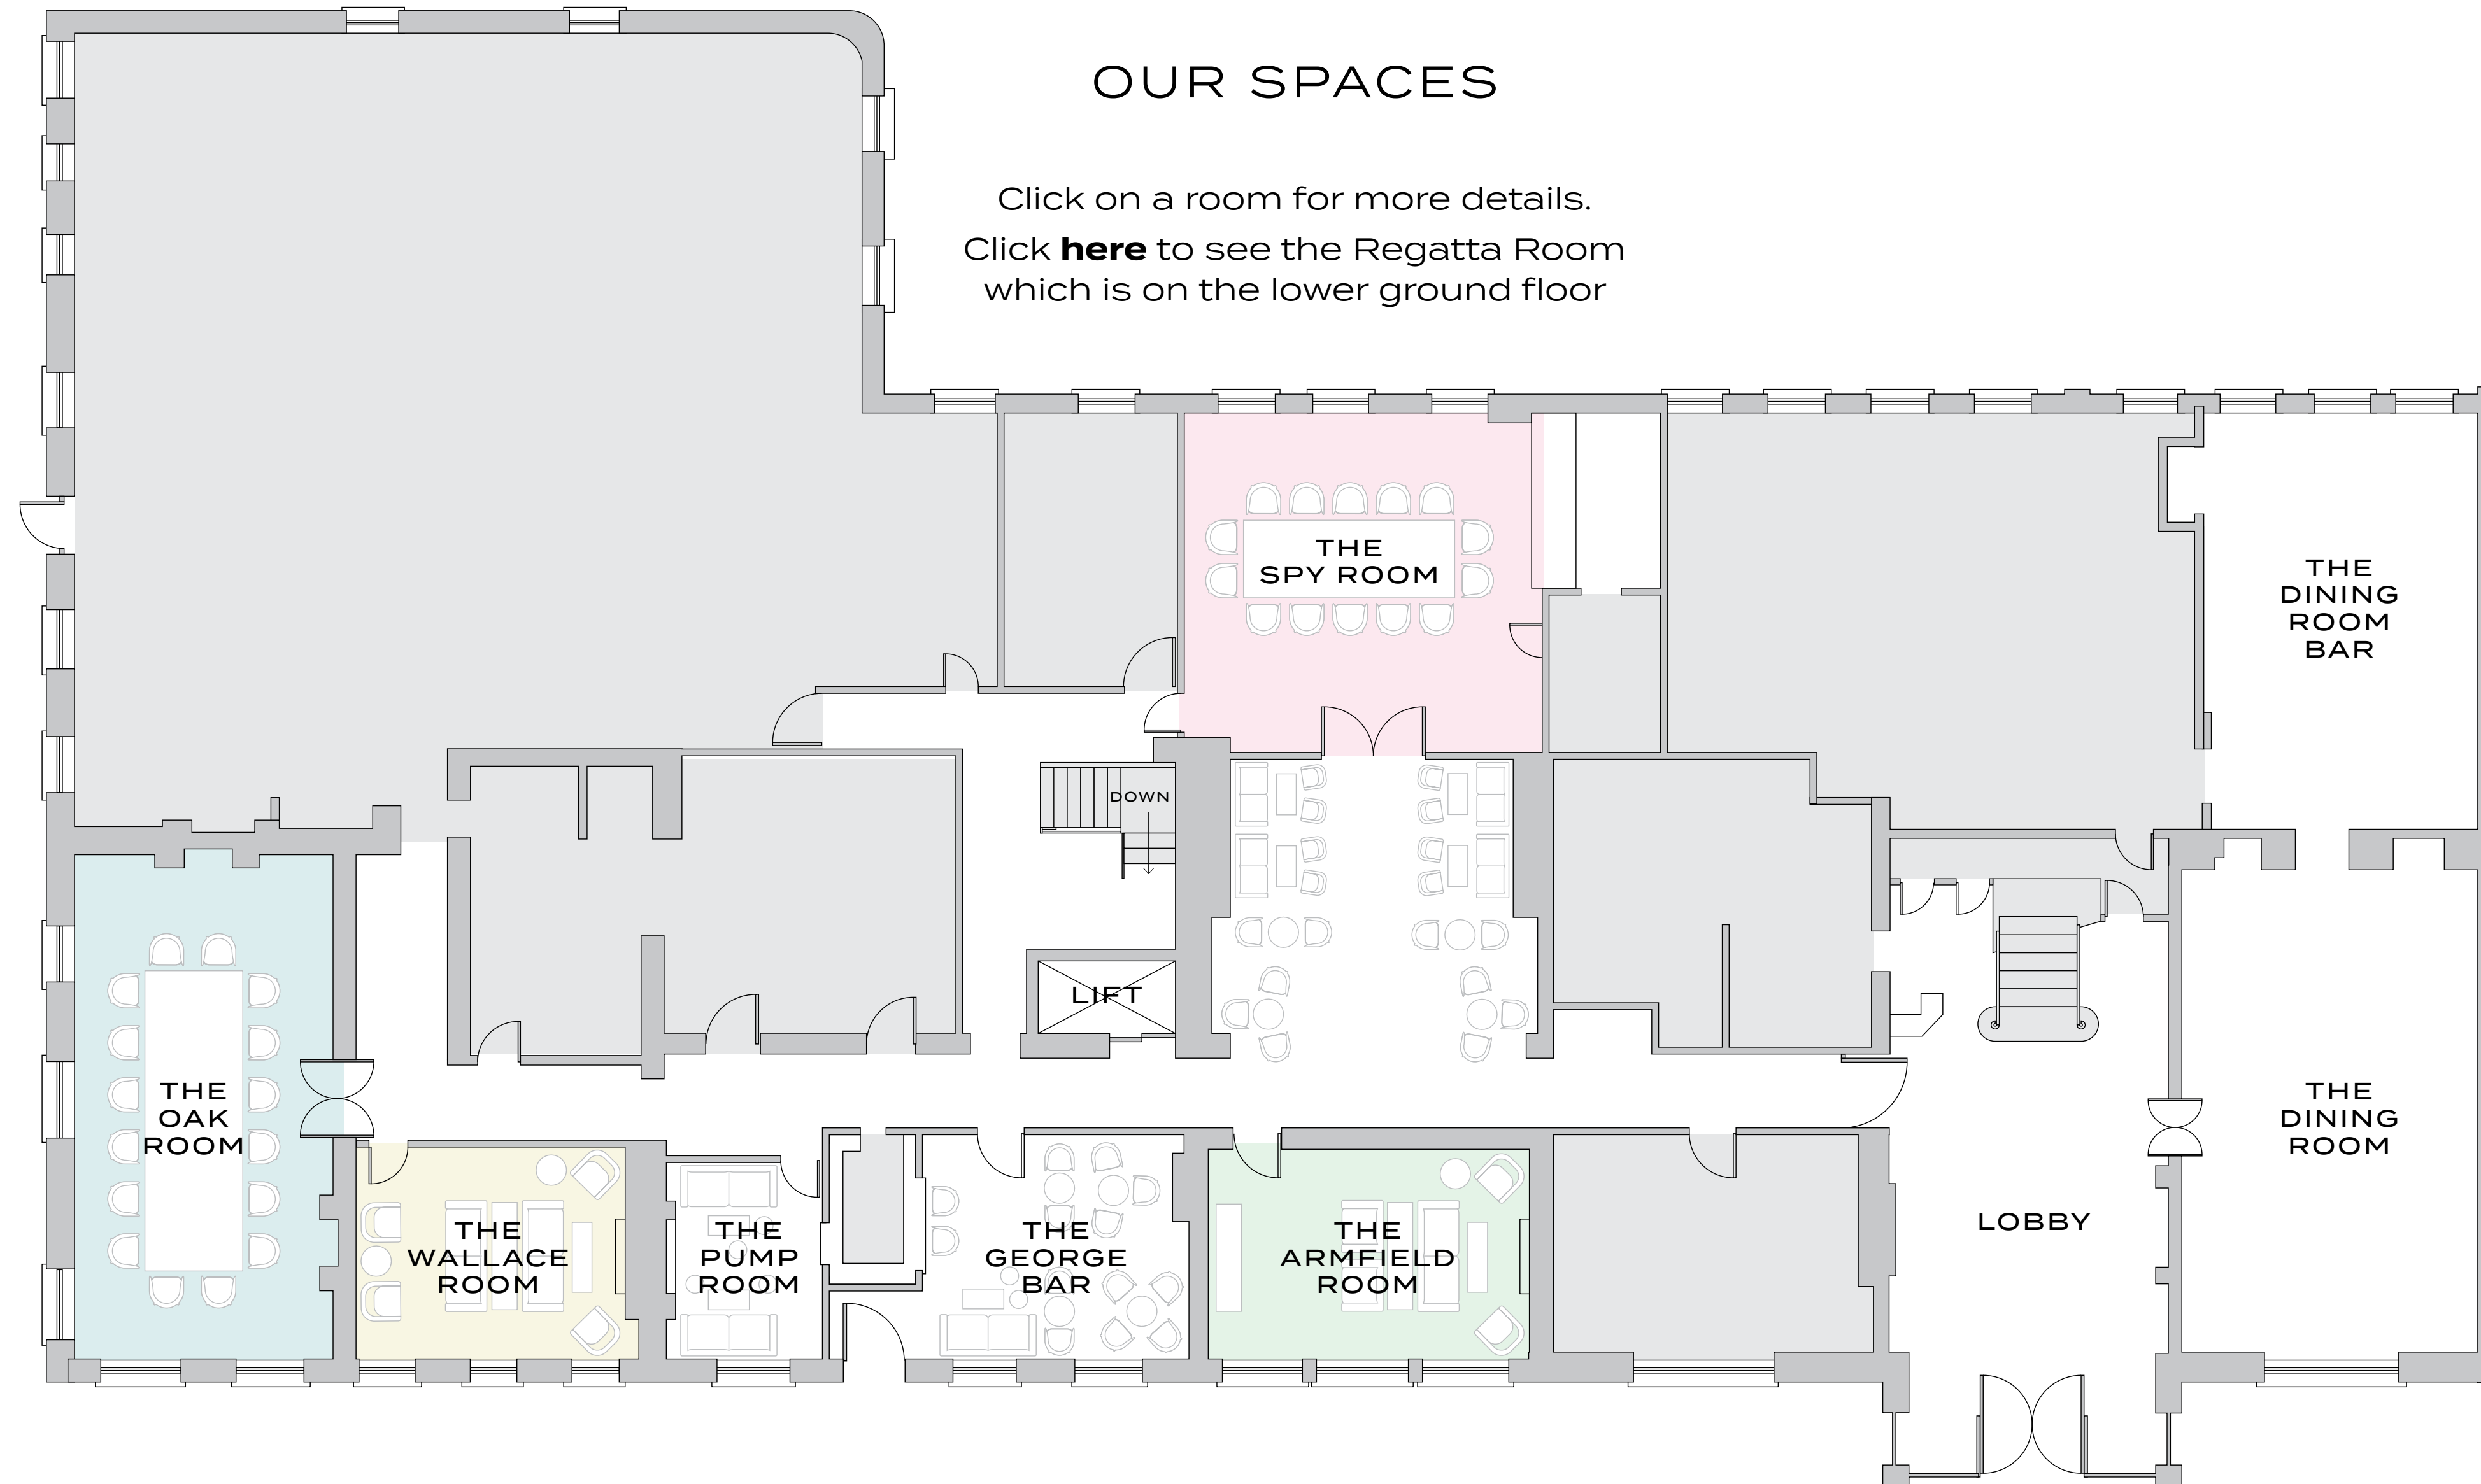

We have full audio-visual set-ups that can be added to many of our rooms when needed.

THE WALLACE ROOM

The Wallace Room draws inspiration from The Wallace Collection right on our doorstep, with walls adorned by a rotating selection of contemporary and classic works. Much like the art found throughout the hotel, this carefully curated collection gives the space a character entirely its own — never style for style's sake, but a comfortable, uplifting backdrop for smaller gatherings.

Designed as an inviting lounge, the Wallace Room offers an intimate and characterful setting for small gatherings. Rich tones, soft lighting and relaxed seating encourage easy conversation, making it ideal for a more private moment with a chosen few guests. An ushers' gathering or a bridesmaids' briefing. Thoughtfully curated finger food, drinks and canapés are available to complement the atmosphere.

THE ARMFIELD ROOM

Much like the Wallace Room, the Armfield Room is exactly the kind of quirky space you would expect at Durrant's. Effortlessly stylish and supremely comfortable, it invites you to sink into a deep armchair and momentarily forget the present day. It is easy to imagine Georgian or Victorian London passing by outside the windows.

The working fireplace is framed by bookshelves filled with intriguing books and magazines. The carefully curated artwork changes regularly. Thoughtful details complete the space, including a beautiful LEGO scale model of the RMS Titanic.

The Armfield Room works perfectly for small gatherings. If you need somewhere characterful for a chat with your photographer, or a comfortable setting for a catch-up with a few friends before your ceremony or a small celebratory reception, this is the space for you.

THE OAK ROOM

The Oak Room takes its name from the oak panelling that lines its walls. Adding to the warmth and historic character of the room are a collection of portraits which, along with a grandfather clock which once belonged to the current owner's grandfather, lend a special feel to the space. A working fireplace and large Georgian sash windows combine to create a warm, welcoming ambience.

Standing receptions with up to 40 people can be accommodated in this elegant setting. Up to 24 can be seated for a lunch or dinner.

THE SPY ROOM

The Spy Room is an elegant, private space with a story to tell. Its name has nothing to do with James Bond or George Smiley, though both would feel perfectly at home here, and everything to do with the striking collection of Vanity Fair “Spy” cartoons and caricatures by Sir Leslie Ward. These characterful prints set the tone for a room rich in history, wit and understated sophistication.

The Spy Room is ideal for private lunches or intimate dinners for up to 16 guests and for cocktail receptions for up to 40 guests. The private bar makes this space extremely popular for standing receptions.

THE REGATTA ROOM

Named in honour of the Henley Royal Regatta, one of the world's most prestigious rowing events and a highlight of the summer social calendar, the room reflects a deep local connection. Although the Regatta itself was established in 1839, some 50 years after the hotel first opened, our association remains strong. The Miller family, former owners of a hotel in Henley, have long held an affinity with this celebrated event, lending the Regatta Room both heritage and character.

The Regatta Room is the largest of our event spaces and offers a stunning setting for memorable occasions.

The space can be arranged to accommodate up to 50 guests for a seated banquet or 80 guests for a standing reception. At one end of the room, a dedicated bar can be fully staffed for your event.

Located on the lower ground floor, the room provides a private and self-contained atmosphere that feels exclusive and discreet.
